- 7) The Service Provider shall process (retain) the image records as listed in Section I. 8) for a maximum of 3 days, except if an investigating authority or other authorised body requests the retention or disclosure of these data for a longer period – on the basis of effective legislation
- 8) Based on Article 159/A, Section (3) of the Eht; in order to ensure the provision of data for the duly authorised national security bodies, investigating authorities, public prosecutors, and courts, the service provider shall
 - a) retain the data listed in Section I. 9) points a) – b) for a period of one year following the termination of the Subscription Contract,
 - b) retain the data listed in Section I. 9) points d) – k) for a period of one year following the date on which they were created,
 - c) retain the data listed in Section I. 9) point l) for a period of six months following the date on which they were created.

- 9) The Service Provider shall process the data listed in Sections I. 10) and I. 12) and processed for the purposes listed therein until the voluntary and straightforward withdrawal of the Subscriber's consent to the processing of the data or, in the lack thereof, until the date stated in Section III. 1) point a) at the latest
- 10) On the request of the investigating authorities – in cases specified by separate laws regulating their operation and with the conditions specified therein – the Service Provider is obliged to retain the data stored in its computer systems for a longer period than specified in Sections III. 1) – III. 9), to the extent and for the period that is appropriate with regard to the objective of data retention

IV. CONDITIONS AND METHOD OF DISCLOSING, FORWARDING PERSONAL DATA TO THIRD PARTIES

The Service Provider shall only disclose or forward the personal data it processes to third parties if such disclosure or forwarding is ensured by a legislative provision, or if the Subscriber or the user of the service has given his/her consent to such disclosure or forwarding.

- 1) Based on Article 157, Sections (9)-(10) of the Eht; out of the data listed in Section I. 1) points a) and f), Section I. 3) points b) - q) and Section I. 6) points b) - f), the Service Provider may facilitate access to those data that are required for the purpose of data processing
 - a) to those who, on the basis of assignment by the Service Provider, carry out the invoicing and management of claims, the management of distribution or provide information to customers,
 - b) to bodies possessing legislative authorisation to resolve legal disputes related to invoicing and distribution,
 - c) to the duly authorised national security bodies, investigating authorities, public prosecutors, and courts, for the purposes of national security, national defence and the protection of public safety, the prosecution of crimes of public prosecution and the unauthorised or unlawful use of the electronic communication system,
 - d) to the bailiff, in accordance with the Act on court orders.

In relation to the data disclosed in accordance with the present point, the recipients of the data are bound by the same obligation of confidentiality as the Service Provider.

- 2) Based on Article 157, Section (8) of the Eht, in the framework of proceedings initiated in cases of insider trading, market manipulation, or unauthorised provision of services; the Service Provider is entitled to forward to the Hungarian Financial Supervisory Authority (PSZÁF) the following data, belonging to the data category listed in Sections I. 1) and 3):
 - a) the surname and first name of the Subscriber;
 - b) the Subscriber's name at birth,
 - c) the home address, place of residence of the Subscriber,
 - d) the Subscription station number, or other identification data;
 - e) the Subscription numbers calling the Subscriber and those called by the Subscriber, the date and starting time of calls or other services.
- 3) In case the conditions stipulated in Article 158 of the Eht arise, (e.g. the Subscriber has intentionally misled or attempted to mislead the Service Provider for the purpose of causing damage, especially if the document used for identification was obviously fake, counterfeit or invalid) the Service Provider is entitled to transfer the data listed in Section I. 5) to another electronic communication service provider, or accept the data from another electronic communication service provider, or establish a joint data file, together with other service providers.

The Service Provider shall promptly inform the Subscriber of such data transfer.
- 4) Magyar Telekom Nyrt. and Telenor Magyarország Zrt. (together with Vodafone Magyarország Zrt., in this point hereinafter referred to as: service providers) may have access to data forwarded to the joint database (hereinafter: joint database) established for the purpose stated in Section I. 5).

The following may also request data from the joint database:

- a) bodies and authorities listed in Section IV. 1) point c) and Section IV. 2),
- b) any customer, in view of the type of data that the database contains in relation to him/her.

Data of the Subscriber may be transferred, or entered into the joint database, if

- a) the Subscriber has an outstanding debt overdue for more than 3 months towards any universal service provider, arising from the use of any universal electronic communication service, or
- b) the Subscription Contract that had existed earlier had been terminated due to a termination cause defined by legal provision up to 6 months prior to the offer made.
- c) the service provider has terminated the contract due to overdue invoices, or has imposed partial or full limitations to the Subscriber's use of the service, or
- d) the service provider initiated proceedings against the subscriber at court or via authorities due to the invoice debt accumulated, or the place of residence of the subscriber is unknown, or
- e) the requestor or subscriber has misled the service provider or intends to mislead the service provider (especially if the document used for identification was obviously fake, counterfeit or invalid).

In respect of the persons featured in the joint database, service providers with access to the joint database may take the following decisions:

- a) refusal of the conclusion of the subscription contract, or
- b) binding the conclusion of the subscription contract to the payment of a deposit fee.

Affected persons may turn to the following with any complaints against the transfer of their personal data into the common database:

- a) the Customer Service office of the service provider forwarding the data to the joint database,
- b) the data protection officer of the service provider forwarding the data to the joint database (the data protection officer at Vodafone Magyarország Zrt. is: Dr. György Papp, Data Protection Manager, 1476 Budapest, Pf.: 350).
- c) the National Media and Infocommunications Authority (Authority),
- d) the Office of the National Data Protection and Freedom of Information.

In the case of any infringement of Subscriber or user rights related to the processing and protection of personal data by the Service Provider, the Subscriber or user may bring the against the Service Provider to the court.

The data controller and data processor of the joint database is Sysman Informatikai Zrt. (1031 Bp. Záhony utca 7.).

- 5) According to Article 6, Section (2) of the Information Act, as well as Article 156, Section (17) of the Eht, the Service Provider is entitled to forward to third parties the personal data belonging to the data categories listed in Section I. points 1) - 8) and made available to the Service Provider, to the extent absolutely necessary for the protection of the Subscriber's or user's own interests, or the vital interests of other persons, or the prevention or remedy of catastrophes or states of emergency even if the person authorised to decide over the processing of the personal data available to the Service Provider is unable to give his/her consent to the forwarding of the data in question to third parties, for reasons of physical disability.
- 6) Upon the conclusion of the Subscription Contract, the list of third parties processing the personal data of the Subscriber on the basis of assignment by Vodafone must be handed over to the Subscriber. Subscribers give their consent to Vodafone assigning the third parties on this list with the processing of the personal data of Subscribers by the conclusion of the Subscription Contract. Subscribers must be promptly notified of any changes affecting this list, and at the same time, Subscribers must be given an opportunity to modify their declarations of consent related to the processing of their data. All data processing by a data controller and processing by a data processor carried out at the third party – to which the Subscriber gives his/her consent through a declaration, as stated above – must also be reported to the data protection records managed by the Office of the National Data Protection and Freedom of Information.
- 7) Based on its legal obligation in Article 145, Section (2) of Eht; at the request of emergency services, the Service Provider is obliged to provide data facilitating the identification and locating of the calling party – by a method specified in a separate legal provision – for purposes of responding to emergency calls, even in spite of the lack or withdrawal of consent related to the identification display or locating data of the calling party. In the framework of this legal obligation, the Service Provider shall provide the telephone number of the calling party towards the recipient of the call in real-time, in the case of calls initiated to telephone numbers of establishments essential for the operation of the state and the service of the general public, in accordance with the Ministry of Interior (BM) decree 24/1997. (III.26.), the police, fire department and the ambulance services; also including calls, and SMS and MMS messages, to "112", the unified European emergency hotline.
- 8) For the purpose of carrying out tasks of the investigating authority, public prosecution authority, court, and the national security service possessing authorisation for data request in accordance with a separate legal Act; in the framework of data provision to these authorities and in accordance with the contents of their request:
 - a) The Service Provider shall provide data to these bodies belonging to the data categories listed in Section I. 9), retained on the basis of legal obligation (Article 159/A, Section (1) of Eht),
 - b) The Service Provider shall determine and forward the locating data related to the user or Subscriber to these bodies (Article 156, Section (16) Eht).
- 9) Based on effective legislation, the Service Provider is obliged to cooperate with organisations authorised by law to gather confidential information or obtain confidential data, as well as with frequency management authorities which, in cases and with conditions and guarantees determined by law, may observe, tap or store the transmissions on the network of the Service Provider (voice and data transfers), or may otherwise interfere in the transfer or transmission for the purposes of observation.

- 10) The Service Provider is entitled to check the personal data (document number, name, gender, name at birth, place of birth, date of birth, mother's maiden name) appearing in personal identification documents presented by the subscriber or his representative in cooperation with GIRO Elszámolásforgalmi Zártkörűen Működő Részvénytársaság (registered office: 1054 Budapest, Vadász utca 31., Court of Registration of the Budapest Metropolitan Court Cg. 01-10-041159) in the database of the Central Office for Administrative and Electronic Public Services.
- 11) Section 47 (9a) of the Consumer Protection Act provides that the Service Provider is required to disclose the data listed in Section I. 13), points a) and b) at the request of the consumer protection authority.

V. CONDITIONS AND METHOD OF PROCESSING THE DETAILED INVOICE APPENDIX

In case the Service Provider provides a detailed invoice appendix or a detailed list of calls at the request of the Subscriber, in order to enable the Subscriber to familiarise him/herself with and verify the sales and billing data serving as the basis of fee calculation; the Service Provider shall, to the extent and by a method required to calculate the fee and decide over any fee dispute, display the sales and billing data on the basis of a voluntary and straightforward declaration made by the Subscriber.

1) The basic service of the invoice appendix, detailed list of calls

As a basic service, the detailed list of calls does not include, in an identifiable way:

- a) all digits of the telephone numbers of parties called,
- b) telephone numbers announced by the National Media and Infocommunications Authority as "unidentifiable telephone numbers",
- c) data unnecessary for calculating the fee,
- d) data suitable for the identification of the caller initiating received calls.

2) The detailed invoice appendix, detailed list of calls with more detailed data

The Service Provider shall once again call the attention of the Subscriber to the fact that, in case the Subscriber orders a detailed call list that contains data with a higher extent of details than in the case of the basic service, then, in addition to the detailed list, the Subscriber may also gain access to the personal data of other users; and the Subscriber is only authorised to view such data if the affected users have given their consent to this, having been duly informed of such disclosure of information. The Service Provider is not obliged to verify the presence of such consent or its contents, the Subscriber is solely responsible for the consent.

The Service Provider is not authorised to include, even in the detailed list of calls with more detailed data:

- a) the detailed data of the "unidentifiable telephone numbers", announced by the National Media and Infocommunications Authority,
- b) data suitable for the identification of the calling party initiating calls received on the device of the Subscriber requesting the detailed list of calls.

VI. IDENTIFICATION DISPLAY

On rendering voice based mobile telephone services, the Service Provider shall ensure, according to NMHH decree number 4/2012, (I.24) Article 9., Section (1):

- a) that the User initiating the call may restrict the display of his/her telephone number on the called device per each call made;
- b) that the Subscriber initiating the call may restrict the display of his/her telephone number on the device called per each Subscriber access point;
- c) that the User initiating the call may; in spite of the restriction made in point b) above, enable the display of his/her telephone number on the device called per each call made;
- d) that the Subscriber receiving the call may restrict the display of the caller identification on the device of the Subscriber receiving the call;
- e) that the Subscriber receiving the call may refuse the receipt of calls where the caller has restricted the display of caller identification.

The restriction of the display of the caller party telephone number, in accordance with Section VI. points a) and b) may not be applied in the case of calls initiated to telephone numbers of establishments essential for the operation of the state and service of the general public, in accordance with the Ministry of Interior (BM) decree 24/1997. (III.26.), the police, fire department and the ambulance services; also including calls, and SMS and MMS messages to "112", the unified European emergency hotline.

In the case of calls initiated with the use of Voice mail services, the restriction of caller telephone number is not possible due to technical reasons.

If the Subscriber fails to make a written declaration with regard to the restriction of the display of his/her telephone number, then the Service Provider considers this as consent to the display of the Subscriber's telephone number.

The Service Provider carries out the display of calls arriving from the network of different electronic communication providers on the basis of the individual decision by the Subscriber and the network contract signed between service providers.
